Public Education is a Priority for...

DAVID HARVEY

As a product of Johnson County public schools, David Harvey knows how important high-quality education is to a successful future. He knows we need the very best education to prepare our children for 21st century jobs.

Unfortunately, politics-as-usual in Topeka is keeping Johnson County from investing in our schools. Many in the Kansas legislature embrace a school-finance formula that restricts Johnson County from funding its own schools. Moreover, the current finance formula sends nearly two-thirds of our tax dollars outside of Johnson County. That is wrong!

In the State Senate, David Harvey will stand up for our schools by supporting legislation that allows Johnson County to raise education dollars locally. Our community should be empowered to invest in our schools and Topeka politicians shouldn't stand in the way. In the State Senate, David Harvey will be the strong advocate we need to allow local funding of our schools.
